Some Foreign Notes.

The noble contributions of our people for the relief of the sufferers in Ireland were received in President of the Chamber of Deputies, for simpa manner well befitting the nation sending, and the nation receiving. It was full of pockets, without either the president or anybody in form, but what is wanted is one with a living them, and when the Irishman who read it got else caring much about it, why this very severe spirit, and that has some realizing sense of what through, the American captain took it, looked at vengeance seems rather hard lines. The Austrian Minister will undoubtedly have to leave London. He has called Gladstone too many names to have himself tolerated. There is weeping and wailing in Austria over the Liberal victory; and in Turkey, more than weeping -despair. But the other parties to the complicated Eastern question will hail it with delight. Suffering Greece may now expect relief from the last vestiges of Turkish misrule, and that enlargement of her boundaries which the Tories first promised and then refused to grant. The Armenian Christians may look for their freedom from Moslem intolerance. The newly fledged Slavic nationalities can at least expect friendly sympathy and counsel, instead of coldness and and letter; a policy either of frank accord or frank defiance of Russia; the pacification of Afghanistan, with some guaranty for its independence; the inauguration of reforms in the adminpeople.

There is still one place in Europe where gambling s legal, at Moroco, that little seven-by-nine principality, whose Prince has no other resources for keeping up his one-horse princely state. It is a lovely spot, and lately it has had a decided sensation, worthy of a frontier town at least. Some thieves exploded a tremendous cartridge in the room which was crowded with eager and absorbed gambiers.

The force of the explosion was so great that it shattered the windows, the lights were extinguished, and a scene of the most terrific disorder ensued. Hundreds of people rushed wildly about in every direction, many persons fainted, and a large number were seriously wounded by the falling glass of the chandeliers. The explosion was the work of a number of robbers, who succeeded in getting away with upward of 150,-000 francs. In the panic which followed several persons were trampled under foot, and the number of those injured in one way or another, is very large. One end of the main room was completely wrecked.

It was like pulling teeth for the Queen to have to part with Lord Beaconsfield. It is said she wept almost as much as Cleopatra when Antony left her! And it was like salts and senna to her to have to receive the hated Gladstone as Premier. There were palace plots to keep the sturdy old statesman out. The Queen begged and entreated Lord Hartington to take the helm. It was a dazzling bait, but he never faltered. He said "Gladstone," when he went into the room, and came out with Gladstone as the ultimatum.

It is due to the Queen to say, when convinced that Mr. Gladstone was inevitable, she suppressed her personal antipathies and recognized promptly her constitutional obligations. Nevertheless, these delays, obstacles, and hesitation produced a most anxious feeling in Liberal circles. This was increased by the triumphant boast of the Tory intriguers that whatever happened Mr. Gladstone would never again be Premier.

The Pope is not going to desert the Jesuits, and in this case it would be unmanly in him to do so. But there is nothing in the Roman system, as men think, which obliges him to stand by them. Popes before this have refused to have anything to do with them, and one Pope abolished them for ever. We wonder how they reconciled it with their notions of obedience, their utter disregard of the Papal bull, and still keeping up their organization. Leo XIII. has just a lecture and Sunday School room. Its reception sent a letter to the French President, defending the religious congregations. Semi-centennial and quarter-centennial anniversaries have, for a year or two, we might say for four years, been very much the fashion all through the East. The events in our civil and ecclesiastical history have been widely commemorated. The celebrations serve many good purposes, and not the least of them is the summaries of statistics and facts that are prepared for the occasion, and then stowed away by the press to serve in due time as the substance of history. It is interesting to look back to the hole of the pit from which we were digged, while at the same time we furnish those who come after us, with means to measure their relative progress. indifference. We may now look to see the Treaty The two latest celebrations have been those of of Berlin executed, in sympathy with its spirit St. Paul and St. Thomas' Churches, New Haven, Conn., the first having completed its fiftieth, and the second its twenty-fifth year. Of the latter, the Rev. Dr. Beardsley, the Historian, is rector, and his sermon was full of interesting istration of India and the relief of its suffering information, as he compared the present with the past, and gave some account of the curious ways of the Church in the earlier days, when there was much soundness of doctrine, and scant attention to the decencies of worship and ritual. We think almost any additions to our ceremonial can be better excused than some of the indecencies that have forever passed away; we can better tolerate some excess of reverence than the utter want of it. Even superstition is to be preferred to cold and barren infidelity. At the celebration of the semi-centennial at St. Paul's, the sermon was by Bishop Littlejohn, who was at one time one of its rectors. He took for his subject, the Church. The sermon was very able and eloquent, but, as it will be printed, we will not mar its beauty by attempting an abstract of it. In the evening Bishop Williams preached, and gave an interesting account of the past and present financial condition of the parish, which the reader will find in another column, under the head of Church News. Addresses were made by a number of clergymen, some of whom had been rectors of the parish, and altogether the occasion was most enjoyable and interesting. The Church has taken deeper root in Connecticut than in any of the New England States, but Massachusetts is now fast equaling it; perhaps, in relative progress, outstripping it. New England was a hard field; the Puritans had for the Church a hereditary hostility, but are at last resorting to it as a refuge from infidelity.

St. Ann's Church, Brooklyn, is to be consecrated on Ascension Day. She has now reached the 96th year of her history. The day of consecration will be the 13th anniversary of the rectorship of Dr. Schenck, and the 2d anniversary of the existence of the parish, as a free Church. Its heavy debt was then paid by an individual, upon the condition that it should become free. The time of the consecration is unfortunately upon a day when most of the clergy will be engaged in their own parishes, but on an occasion so important there will be a large attendance and an interesting service.

Last Thursday night there was a reception given to the Rev. Mr. Short, of Holy Trinity Chapel, Brooklyn, upon his return from a short visit to the West Indies. This chapel is a mission of Holy Trinity Church, of which the Rev. Dr. Hall is rector. It was organized in 1871, and until its demolition held its services in old St. Ann's. It has recently bought a Reformed Presbyterian church, which has been appropriately fitted up. It also at the same time purchased a house adjoining, and in the rear of the church is to Mr. Short was given by Holy Trinity Guild. Much eloquent music was discoursed, and during the evening addresses were made by Rev. Dr. Hall and Rev. Mr. Short. Few missions can boast of such a property, as has been here acquired,-well located; and a prosperous future for the mission seems to be assured.

The season of the spring Conventions has come, and with them the election of delegates to the General Convention. Happily no great questions calling for excited debate will probably arise. He preached from the fourth chapter of St. Paul's Epistle to the Ephesians wherein the apostle "exhorteth to unity, that the Church might be edified to grow up in Christ." In his closing remarks the Bishop said: "The jubilee has but just commenced and there is but one thing to which I dare allude: I allude to that with bated breath and a heart full of hope. before the setting of the sun you will owe no man a dollar." In the evening the church was again filled to overflowing. The opening address was made by Bishop Williams, in which he announced the result of the morning collection. On Easter Day the indebtedness of the parish amounted to $22,000. By the Easter said that to-day the collection amounted to $16,-638, cancelling the debt with a surplus of $1,306. He congratulated the parish and the diocese on the happy result. Judge John C. Hollister was then introduced by the Bishop, and an interesting account of the history of the church followed. Trinity Church was the first organized parish in the township of New Haven, its date being 1752. As the parish increased in strength and numbers, it seemed necessary to take steps toward establishing a chapel. This move was made in 1827. The good work was furthered by several bequests, and in 1830, fifty years ago to a day, the chapel was consecrated, Bishop Brownell officiating. In 1845 it became an independent parish organized in due form as St. Paul's. Of the original vestrymen four are now living. Number of families in 1845, 245; in 1880, 450; communicants in 1845, 240; in 1880, 683; baptisms, 1196; confirmations, 1005; marriages, 539; burials, 788; offering for charitable objects, $227,212; pew rentals, $217,724. The exercises were concluded by short addresses from Rev. Dr. Harwood, Rev. Dr. Bennett, Rev. Dr. Cook, Bishop Littlejohn, Rev. Dr. Drown, and Rev. Mr. Lobdell. The Missionary Conference in Detroit. Correspondence of the LIVING CHURCH.

DETROIT, APRIL 29, 1880. The hearts of the Church people of Michigan have been deeply stirred and gladdened this past week, by the Missionary Conference. Bishop Harris voiced the feeling of all his clergy and people, in his closing words at the last meeting, when he said that in this Conference more had been given than they had asked or thought; and that they could disperse with no other feeling

The invited speakeas of the Conference included the Lord Bishop of Huron, the Missionary Bishop of Niobrara, the Bishops of Ohio, Western Michigan, Southern Ohio, the Rev. Drs. Paddock and Schenck of Brooklyn, Reese and Battershall of Albany, the Rev. J. F. Magrath of Philadelphia, and the Secretaries of the Missionary Society, Rev. Dr. Twing aud Rev, J. Kimber. > Some of the most salient points of the addresses made at the various meetings are presented below. They are drawn mainly from the excellent reports which appeared in the Post and Tribune newspaper of this city.

GENERAL MISSIONS.

Bishop Bedell preached from II. Cor. IV. 2. He said the missionary problem was solved in this text: "By manifestation of the truth commending ourselves to every man's conscience. The practical question is how shall we bring God's truth into every man's conscience? The answer is by preaching and practice. Purity. piety, self-devotion, imitating Jesus, have alone won souls. The speaker referred to the missionoffering it was reduced to $15,332. The Bishop aries of the early centuries who first won the confidence of the barbarians by their Christian lives. The advance of civilization has not changed the condition of affairs. We must be real Christians consistant at all times, in order to be successful in missionary work. The speaker thought the first great work to do was to teach the masses to comprehend the nature of the work. Religious intelligence should be the watchword. There was work to be done by men, women and children in the church.

During the last year, 20,000 natives of one district in India presented themselves for baptism. These people lived in a district where there were Christian people constantly setting a good example before the heathens. This work was commenced there fifty years ago. Good seed was sown and now it is bringing forth good fruit. We should not be discouraged if the results of our work are not seen at once. It was more than fifty years before the result of missionary work was seen in Druidical and heathen England.

At the opening of the informal discussion.

Bishop Harris said : I have a feeling as I stand here that it will be on all accounts best for me to content myself thankfulness with which we welcome our fathers and brethren who have come to us to conduct vanced by gifts and by counsel, by alms and by prayers, we ourselves are to be still more benefited; for as I trust we may kindle afresh that missionary spirit upon which our very existence as Christians depends, and may learn to know better and to love more the Church's great missionary work.

spoke earnestly for increased love for the work of Christ and increased zeal in doing it. Every Christian he said, must aid in carrying out the comand of the Saviour:

to every creature." The work was an aggressive one. It was to seek as well as to save them that are lost. The enemy was very vigilant and was there are chaplains of the societies for the Propfortifying his strongholds. The English speak-ing people were especially responsible, as God had given a large part of the habitable globe to them. He had chosen England and America to supply the fruits of Christianity to all nations. His lordship then spoke of the different institutions devoted to a spread of the gospel among different nations and by different means, and called particular attention to the conversion of 25,000 Jews during the past year.

Bishop Gillespie showed how the figures of the Missionary Society make evident the failure of the Church in many parts of the country to do her duty toward missions.

The Rev. Dr. Battershall said that this was an age in which the most fundamental questions of morals and religion were exposed to a challenge. That there was much search for some religion that would symbolize the wants of the human heart. The whole Christian civilization was today looking for a religion of this type. Men and women might be said to be out hunting for a religion, and this was especially true of America. A considerable percentage of the population of this country believed in the Church of Rome; but its leading principles to-day were the out-growth of recent times, and it had driven intelligence from its doors. A considerable percentage gave their adhesion to creeds that had been formulated since the age of the reformation. He believed that the English speaking branch of the Church of Christ held splendid opportunities in trust. It was the largest and most comprehensive type on the face of the earth, and in its essential features would commend itself to the spiritual needs of the masses.

Rev. Dr. Paddock urged our duty towards for-

The question had often been asked, "Do foreign missions pay?" "Is there not enough to do at home?" It may seem to me so at first sight, but such a theory does not lead to the best re-sults. The will of the Head of the church was, "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature." This branch of the work must not be neglected till the kingdoms of this world shall have become the kingdoms of our Lord and His Christ. The speaker related many instances of remarkable results attained, as tending to controvert the idea that mission work was not attended by visible results. We should all be represented by some one on heathen soil, and work there indirectly by aiding others who are there. If the home mission policy had been exclusively followed by the ear religion would not have rea

The Rev. Dr. Reese sai increased privilege come increased duty. The day of Christ seems to be far off because of the unwillingness of individual Christians to recognize their responsibility in the Christian cause The kingdom of Christ is to come by individual

Bishop Jaggar made an appeal for the better appreciation of missionary work, its difficulties, and the kind of men it demands. He had read in a recent magazine article that men waiting in they are wanted. Such men, he said, are not wanted at the front. The need is for men of good sense, of tact, of versatile talents and of self-forgetful spirit.

Rev. Dr. Twing stated that Michigan is indebted to the Missionary Society for work done and aid given in former years to the amount of about $75,000. The time is not so very far distant when at Detroit there was a not very strong mission receiving aid regularly. If it were not for the domestic missions the work would never have been done. The whole United States is its field of operations-from sea to sea. The signal lights are not so near together as they should be. He farther stated that formerly collections were taken for foreign, domestic, Indian, and Freedman's missions. Now, all are consolidated under the head of foreign and domestic missions. The amount of means required is as great as if four distinct appeals were made.

CHINA.

Dr. A. C. Bunn, the Church's medical missionary at Wuchang, in his several addresses presented the advantages of combining medical work with the preaching of the Gospel in China, and urged the establishment of a Medical College for native students, and of hospitals in which religious instruction should be imparted while physical ills were being treated.

By successful medical treatment the gratitude and confidence of the people are won, and their minds prepared to receive more readily the religious truths taught by the physicians. How widespread the influence of the missionary may become by this method, is indicated by the statement that during the five years since the establishment of the hospital at Woochang, 43,000 patients had sought its treatment. Woochang is a city, as large as New York, older than Rome as great a political center as Washington, and as important an educational city as Berlin. There is no greater field for usefulness in the world for merely by attempting to express the joy and physicians, than in China, a country where there is no medical faculty, properly speaking. The people have no confidence in the native doctors, this missionary conference. I can but feel that but they seem to put themselves under the treathowever much the cause of missions may be ad- ment of Americans with great confidence. They appreciate the work, especially the surgical part of it. The native physicians know nothing of dissection. Hygienic laws are disregarded and unknown. The sick are neglected, especially the women and female children. At Woochang a separate woman's hospital has been established by the missionaries. The physicians are called The Lord Bishop of Huron followed with a graceful expression of the joy he felt in meeting class, except on official business through the conwith his brethren of the American Church, and suls. Dr. Bunn stated that a service of prayer and praise always preceded the examination of patients in the hospital.

Rev. Mr. Kimber in speaking of the work in China said: The first objection commonly met with is that we have enough to do at home; that "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel | England has no domestic missions and can more

The money $3,500 communicants in the country, and a weekly has greater purchasing power in China and Japan than here. Another objection is that, after all, the heathen are not benefitted as a whole by is not all that could be desired, but there is Christianity; that with Christian Civilization come civilization's vices; that "the heathen are a law unto themselves; and if they receive the gosbel their responsibilities are increased: that perhaps they cannot stand the test." We have nothing to do with the condition of the heathen when they come to the bar of God, if only our sea is reached and the faith pure and simple is perhaps they cannot stand the test. We have see the promise of Christian conquest in the shwill be established at this point. At the early service next morning, quite a number were present and received the Holy Eucharist.

While many of the missionaries in China, continued the speaker, were for years rewarded by no visible results of their labors, the present condition of affairs shows that much has been accomplished. Twenty-thee men, were ready to enter upon this work when the Society had sufficient funds to send them.

Rev. Dr. Schenck said, Many claimed that the persons had been confirmed in Foochou, China, and this little fact would disprove the statements of these doubters. There is no arithmetic that takes in the scope of redemption, and no matter whether one or a thousand souls are reclaimed, glory should be given to God. The Church must be waked up from its lethargy, individuals must be waked up, and enter into the work.

Bishop Hare held the close attention of the of Christian women in the homes of the country. audiences to his two addresses on Indian Missions. The Bishop amazed his hearers by his statement regarding the number of the Indians. It is supposed by many that they are rapidly decreasing, but good authorities state that is far from the truth. The whole number of Indians the speaker placed at 300,000. The speaker looked upon it as impossible that the Indian should be exterminated. The red man is commonly supposed to be a treacherous animal. This is not true.

The Indians' difficulty in learning to work is has never seen a hammer or tried to drive a nail. That which white men acquire without a thought in early youth, he can only learn by slow degrees in manhood, after his habits are fixed. His pony has never pulled a plow. The prairie sod has grown and matted together for hundreds of years. The implements furnished him are often imperfect. All these things make his efforts to acquire the way to civilization a really pitiable sight.

They are not inaccessible to missionary effort. What touches a white man's heart touches theirs. Their sense of sin is not great. They have lived without law: but their sense of need is over-Indians do better work in many cases than the white missionaries. If one man of sound and ual line of work of the society. unbiased judgment could take charge of Indian affairs for ten years, and not be trammeled by al influences, the question f Huron said the Indian as not beset by the difficulties it was in the United States. Taken as a class the Indians were civilized. There were in the diocese of Toronto and Manitoba not less than about 150,000 Indians. The great need is for more money and more men. The Indians appreciate the efforts made in their behalf. In Prince Edward there is an Indian clergyman in charge of a parish of white people at their own request. The Indians on Walpole island and elsewhere contribute regularly to the support of mission work. In the conferences, Indian delegates meet on an equal with their white brethren. Their number is on the increase. In response to a question concerning the Indians' rights with reference to property and suffrage, the Bishop replied that the lands reserved at Grand River are held by the Indians in such a way that they cannot be sold under any circumstances, and only occupied, even for schools and churches, with their sanction. They are eligible to citizenship, but have not asked for it. They have all the rights and privileges of the whites.

The Rev. Dr. Jameson, of Walpole island, followed with an interesting address on the Indians there, among whom he had labored for 35 years. Forty-five years ago they were totally pagan, intemperate, idle, and lax in regard to their marital relations. Now there are many of them good farmers, one raising 700 bushels of wheat last year, and another 450 bushels. Out of a population of 800, 400 are attendants on church, and 80 are communicants.

The Rev. Dr. Paddock earnestly urged the pushing forward of the Church's work among the a half score reached the Union Chapel in which Indians and made an encouraging statement of services were to be held, and at their request the lessening of the difficulties in that field.

THE FREEDMEN OF THE SOUTH.

In his remarks upon the mission work among the Freedmen, Rev. Dr. Schenck said, the negro to-day is in the most critical period of his history in this country. There is a general state of unrest. Many negroes are going back to the hideous religions of their native Africa. The race is not only knocking but thundering at the doors of the American Colonization Society. If there at the Church of the Redeemer, Morning Prayer were 100 ships to take negro colonists to Africa, they would all be filled. The speaker believed if the would all be sent they would do the most most happy manner. Litany was said at 10:30, gro's salvation and spiritual good. We seem to think he is fit to live and fit to vote, but not to Rite, sitting in his chair, as each one came and treatment of the negro and the Indian.

The negro is peculiarly susceptible to religious influences; what a field for work is there. We have something to do for these 4,000,000 people.

The Romish Church is constantly at work among them. The Episcopal service is peculiarly Centralia, as Sub-Deacon. A large number rethem. There must be colored preachers for colored people. The speaker closed upon the conclusion of the morning theme Ps. by expressing the hope that at some day not far distant we may have a Bishop of Africa who is an African, and a Bishop of China who is a Chipraise. It is composed or naman, so putting together that which God hath joined, and which no man should put asunder.

Rev. Dr. Paddock was listened to with great interest in his address on the work in Mexico. With Maximilian came some copies of the Bible in the Spanish tongue, brought from England. A priest named Aquila began mission work in Mexico. He died. Afterward a young Spanish-American named Reilly went to the country. He has labored there with the people ever since. The foreign missionaries are most of them located where they can get articles of clothing, etc., at very reasonable rates, so there is established a foreign missionary's fund, the object of which is to give each married missionary a life insurance policy. The Bishop and Rector amongst others, had the pleasure of din-ing with the General and his wife at the house of Mrs. Galigher. Saturday evening a reception was given the Bishop at the Rector's residence, when a large number of parishioners and others was said at the usual hour for Sunday School, and the Bishop addressed the children in the effective missionary work possible there. At noon it was necessary to be away again for an appointment at Da Quoin. Arriving just be-fore evening, there being no church building, the Bishop baptized two infants at the house of Mr. Blakeslee. In the evening, the Bishop preached an exceedingly instructive sermon from the text, "He shall glorify me." He then confirmed a class of twelve, presented by Rev. Church Work in Kansas

Correspondence of the LIVING CHURCH.

On Wednesday, April 7th, the Bishop of Kansas visited Trinity Church, Atchison (Rev. Frank O. Osborne Rector), and confirmed a class of ten candidates. The Rev. John Bennett, of Cameron, Mo., was present and assisted in the services. During the incumbency of the present Rector, now in the fifth year of his rectorship, this parish has steadily grown in numbers and influence and usefulness. The list of communicants has been increased from 65 to 150; and the parish is foremost in the diocesan and general Church work.

On Thursday, April 15th, the Bishop visited the Church of St. Paul, Leavenworth, and confirmed a class of six candidates. The Rev. Messrs. Woart, Osborne, and Mee were present, and assisted in the services. This parish is steadily growing in influence under the ministrations of its present Rector. A long-standing debt of $2,000 has been reduced one half, and arrangements are being made for the payment of the remaining $1,000 during the present year.

We are pleased to chronicle the revival of Church work in Trinity Parish, Lawrence, under the ministrations of the Rev. A. Beatty, D. D., one of the oldest and most scholarly of the clergy of the Diocese. Though burdened with a large bonded debt, the congregation has so largely increased, that current expenses are easily met, and we doubt not the bonded debt itself will be gradually reduced, with the revival of interest in the parish. The Rev. Chas. B. Mee, recently of the Diocese of New York, has been appointed Missionary along the line of the St. Joseph and West-Atchison, who took the preliminary step for organizing a Mission at Troy, and at Hiawatha. Both of these towns are county seats, and they have long been neglected by the Diocese. The out-look is very favorable for the planting of the Church. A

It is expected that the Rev. John Bennett, of Cameron, Mo., will assume the Rectorship of St. Paul's Church, Wyandotte. The Rev. John Bakewell, D. D., of Trenton, N. J., son in-law of Bishop Vail, has been visiting his friends in Topeka and Atchison; of which parishes he was Rector for several years.

The Diocesan Convention will meet in Grace Cathedral, Topeka, on Wednesday, June 30th.

The Possibilities of the Telephone. From our New York Correspondent,

It may yet become a question, whether the invention of the telephone is going to do away with the necessity of public worship; or whether the command, not to forsake the assembling of ourselves together, as the manner of some is, is still in vogue. On Sunday, March 18th, some telephones in Plymouth church, Brooklyn, were put in connection with instruments in the northern part of this city, and in Elizabeth and Orange, New Jersey. The result was, that not only the sermons, but the entire services, the singing and outbursts of applause, at the good hits, were heard in these distant places without the escape of a word or a sound. This is especially true of Elizabeth; in some other olution the invention may make, not only and all her family were opposed to it.

in church-going, but in the attendance upon concerts and theatres. As the sexton said on Sunday, when he saw the success of the fifty telephones, "I am afraid that this will be the end of our prosperity as a church; for who will pay $600 for a pew, when he can have a telephone, and listen in his own parlor?" No less a revo-lution may be effected in the conduct of the press. The debates in the next General Convention may be heard in the office of the LIVING CHURCH, as well as in New York, and what an expense of telegrams and short-hand reporters will be saved. There is no telling whereunto this thing may grow, nor what mighty changes it will effect. It is the age of wonderful inventions; and, in the future, will be known as such. If the sermon and services of a church can be distinctly heard for miles upon miles, as was done on Sunday last, through the agency of a telephone, he would be a bold man, who would attempt to limit the progress in this direction, in the years to come. There is no reason why a whole world should not be in attendance at the next Lambeth Council; nor why we in New York should nol listen to the debates upon the Provinciat question, in your next Convention. Of course the telephone may have its drawbacks, as do other great blessings. There is such a thing as hearing too much. Bad news travels apace even by telegraph. The idea of privacy in any conversation must be abandoned. However remote you may appear to be, you may be in the near vicinity of a telephone, and every word you utter (perhaps, in the ears of a friend), may be heard by the wife, who waits for you at home. What would be the good of stories about the "club" or the field of labor by the Rev. F. O. Osborne, of ears went with you. There is no limit to telephonic possibilities.

The Advance, some time ago, advocated the appointment of the customary State Fast Day on Good Friday, thus securing fund of $800 has been raised at Hiawatha, the largest possible unanimity of its observand it is expected that a church building ance by Christians or all denominations. We quote:

While there are points enough, in respect to which we differ radically, from our Roman Catholic brethren, and from high church Episco-palians, yet we are glad of occasions which may bring into prominence the points of vital moment, wherein we are all agreed. Moreover, as we now happily have a yearly thanksgiving Feast Day, designated in uni-Sacerdotalism with apostone authority. The sermon ended, the candidate was presented by the Rev. In the Primitive Church, divorce a mensa et thoro, for adultery, was universally allowed. As to re-marriage of the innocent party, in such a case, opinions differed. The position taken in the Canons of our own Church, therefore, finds not a few sanctions and defenders in the undivided Church of the early days; is opposed to no decree of a General Council, and exactly coincides with that of the great Oriental Communnion. But the practice (which it is to be feared a few of our clergy sometimes weakly falls into), of evading the Canon, by accepting improper and valueless proofs that a divorce has been granted for adultery, does much to blind people to thr Scriptural and Catholic teaching of the Church. And unless it is put down with a strong hand, it will cause a demand for an absolute prohibition of re-marriage of parties divorced (no matter for what reason), as the only effective way of bringing the Church squarely against the currents of rottenness little. No religious body outside the now sweeping over the land. The Rev. Mr. Mann continues to prosecute his faithful work among this interesting class. On the 15th ult, he held a service at Rockford, in this diocese, and baptized one person. Also, the same at St. James' Church in this city, on the 3d Sunday in Lent. Since then, he has held a combined service at Plymouth, Indiana, such as he had previously held at East Saginaw, Michigan. By "a combined service" is meant, a service for those who have the gift of hearing and speech, as well as for deaf-mutes. Both join together in worship; the service being read orally by a "hearing" clergyman, and interpreted by the deafmute minister, for the eye-hearers. An then presented in the same manner. The Ascension.

Lift up your heads, O gates! Be lifted high, Ye everlasting doors! The King draws nigh. Angelic choirs attend Him to the sky.

Sing, O ye heavens! Be joyful, all ye lands! Ye ransomed people, shout and clap your hands! High over all the King of Glory stands.

Who is the King of Glory? Even He Before whose banner Death and Hell shall flee: Who was and is and evermore shall be.

He comes with power, who dwelt on earth unknown.

Despised by men, rejected by His own,-The Prince of Peace, victorious to His Throne!

The Lord ascends! His work on earth is done; The Lord ascends! His reign on earth begun, His people ransomed, and His Kingdom won!

O earth, rejoice! Ye isles thereof be glad! O Zion, lift thy head, no longer sad; Behold thy King, in strength and beauty clad.

Behold thy King! Though passed from human sight.

By faith behold Him, robed in regal might, The King of Kings upon His Throne of Light. Lift up your heads, O gates! Wide open swing Ye doors of heaven! While men and angels sing All glory, honor, praise and power, to their victorious King.

Bishop Welles' Cathedral Sermon.

The beloved and honored diocesan of Wisconsin preached a sermon in Trinity Church, Cleveland, O., on the fourth Sunday after Easter, on the Cathedral System. A large number of the clergy and a full congregation listened with great interest. After exhibiting the Church as the continuation of the Incarnate Life of its Divine Head, he showed how it was propagated through the ceaseless episcopate, and how every Bishop must have his "local habitation"—his seat or CATHEDRAL—at the chief centre of his work. The Cathedral idea is essentially the missionary—which is the Christian—idea. He traced the growth of the idea in Wisconsin from the time of Bishop Kemper; of the essay of the Rev. paper published in Philadelphia, which Dr. Adams on the subject; of the memorial issues this flamboyant war-cry: "Nothof the diocese to the General Convention ing shall divert or deter us from the effort of 1868; and of Bishop Armitage's accept- to bring our Church in its doctrine, disto the establishment of the Cathedral. On his elevation to the episcopate, Bishop Welles found himself in an atmosphere of euphoniously styles himself "B. Aycrigg," cathedral thought, study, and experiment. After considerable "experience" in the expression to some definite opinions. Our readers will feel much interest to know what these are.

dral is valuable only in proportion to what to the call to organize, which was a COMit proves itself able to accomplish. It must not be "a mere convocation of dignities, with great titles."

"It must have the power in its organization to confer the dignity which belongs to self-sacrifice. It must develop the oldtime enthusiasm which marked the beginning of Christianity. As the Bishop's Church, and hence the Diocesan Church, it must, as the recognized centre of Diocesan life, in its organization, regard the General Council.'?" Diocese and not the particular congregation ordinarily worshipping there. It must, as the Bishop's Church, bring work to the front, and crown it, in the aim and purpose, and substance, of its existence; and in the place of the capital of implies or can be made to imply. We do God's blessing, be able, always, to command the capital of self-denial."

of self-denial!" When that idea gets firmly fastened in the minds of our clergy, there will be no more fear of the money-power of worldly laymen.

Second, the Cathedral should be the Di ocesan Capital. Around it should gather the institution of the Diocese. It should right, and it is duty to hew away at the supply a free church "where the mercantile principle of the QUID PRO QUO is not the ancient prophets did, and not say a regarded." There should be a clergyhouse and Diocesan offices.

Third, as to the work of the Cathedral, Missionary work in the see city and its suburbs should evidently be done from the Cathedral centre.

"There is no estimating what might be vidual parish may say, 'I am doing what I can, let others do as much.' The Bishop, by means of his clergy, can take up work which is left undone; for it is all HIS WORK And an organization which places him in his rightful position, and furnishes him with the means of doing that, in the Church's way, for which the Church holds him responsible, should commend itself to every devout member of the Church."

The organization should be as simple as possible—a corporation to hold the property; a congregation organized, but not parochially, entitled to representation; a chapter consisting of those who are immediately engaged in Cathedral work. There must be no attempt to organize beyond present needs and present light. The final organization must be the fruit of experience and careful development. The Cathedral system is a return to the old way, and must bring great blessings to the Church. The return to primitive and catholic ways will demand a great sacrifice of love and forbearance; and considerable time will be required to overcome the feverish animosity of opposition. But time and sacrifice are not wasted in this service, and its sufferings are not worthy to be compared with its rewards.

The sermon is one which ought to be widely circulated. It is creditable alike to the head and the heart of the wise and patient Bishop of Wisconsin.

A Happy Family.

The "reform" undertaken by certain malcontents, who went out from us because they were not of us, does not seem to have been a thorough one. The "proposed book" of 1785, notwithstanding all the subsequent tinkering it received, still contains some of those horrid "germs," and consequently the new sect is distracted by the dissensions of "High" and "Low" parties. It is announced to be an "Issue as to Fundamentals in the R. E. C." We are pleased to notice that the Chicago element is decidedly on the side of the conservatives, a fact no doubt attributable to the tonic influence of the circumambient air of this western region. Who knows but that this treatment by the inhalation process may finally purify their blood, purge their vision and bring them back to the Old Church?

The radical wing is represented by a ance of the episcopate with direct reference cipline, and worship, IN PERFECT ACCORD-ANCE WITH THE SCRIPTURES!"

Whereupon a High-Churchman, who waxeth wroth at the insinuation that the "R. E. C." after all the travail of years, matter, he is certainly in a position to give has failed to become a "Scripture" body, comes back upon the Philadelphia brother with the crushing enquiry: "Does this signify 'in perfect accordance' with the First, the Bishop holds that the Cathe- personal views of the writer, without regard PACT, which was signed by all who took a part in the organization of the Reformed Episcopal Church, and was confirmed at the organization by the Declagation of Principles, which was declared unanimously to be the 'basis of the organization of the R. Really, we experience a deep emotion of pity for these brethren of the conservative side. Naturally of a compassionate turn, the LIVING CHURCH could hardly have refrained from pitying Haman when he was led to the gallows which he had erected for Mordecai, and, by parity of reasoning, ought to commiserate these schismatics who are trembling at the prospect of schism. Others may smile, and hint that they are "hoist with their own petard," but as for us we extend our condolences to all the host of "bishops," to B. Aycrigg, and al the other distinguished laity, and trust that they may yet find another powerful tonic for the toning up of their shattered nerves.

Some Facts About Maine.

We see, by a letter from the Rev. C. W. Hayes, published in the Baltimore "Church News," that a Philadelphia "R. E." journal, various "R C." papers, and the New York "Guardian" (par nobile fratrum), have done their best, singly and collectively, to smudge the fair fame of the Diocese of Maine, by giving currency to the statement that, during the past year, it has had a net loss of eight communicants, and in four years, a gain of less than one hundred. Mr. Hayes, who, as Secretary of the Diocese, has the fullest opportunities of arriving at the true state of the case, shows how false are the conclusions that it is intended should be drawn from the above premises. It appears that, owing to the constant emigration from the State of Maine, its population, during the past twenty years, has certainly not increased, and has probably diminished. "The census of 1879" says Mr. Hayes, "gave a nett loss of 1364 as compared with that of 1860; the census now beginning will probably give nearly the same result."

In making a calculation of this nature, such a statement is a very important factor; and when, in addition to this, we become acquainted with a few further facts affecting the diocese of Maine, we shall see, beyond a peradventure, that the Reformed organ, the un-Reformed organ, and their New York sympathizer, have all 'reckoned without their host.'' We cannot do better than quote two or three paragraphs of Mr. Hayes' letter:

"During the thirteen years of Bishop Neely's episcopate, there have been 2160 persons confirmed, and 1814 admitted as new communicants. In the same time 1617 have removed, and 951 been received, making a nett loss by removals of 666. Yet the number of communicants in 1879 was 2107, against 1527 in 1867, showing a nett gain of 580 in twelve years, or 38 per cent. Had the removals into the diocese balanced those out of it, the increase would have been 1246, or nearly eighty-two per cent. And this eighty-two per cent. represents, at the very least, the gain which has been made in Maine to the Church, though other dioceses have reaped the greater part of the benefit, instead of herself.

Even in these last four years there have been 605 persons confirmed, or thirty per cent. of the whole number of communicants accordance' do signify, the personal, spe- in 1875; yet the nett loss by removals has balanced this gain within 100."

"Let me just add one or two other items doctrine on any subject made by man is in- Neely found here regular services at fifteen points in the whole State. WE have lately received a letter, and a very cheerful one, from a clergyman in a southern diocese who has been confined to the house by sickness for the past six months, and is living on a salary of $200, with eleven in the family. He labors with his hands on a little farm, which enables him to keep his family without actual suffering. His chief concern at the time of writing, seemed to be that his little flock through his illness, and that he could not remit subscription to the LIVING CHURCH. The Mexican Liturgy.

The Bishop of Ohio is a member of the Mexican Commission, and of course has had possesion of the facts all along. It seems to us to be unfortunate, that the repeated demands for light have been so coldly met. It is not fair to characterize the natural curiosity of hundreds, as "opposition" to the Mexican Church. It is a fact, however, that many who had no disposition to feel unfriendly began to suspect that our Church was being trifled with, has been observed. Probably, the Assistant Bishop of Kentucky was somewhat influenced by such a fear, and wrote to the Bishop of Ohio for "light." What the outspoken Press has not been able to procure, the Assistant Bishop of Kentucky lays it before its readers; only premising. that, if these facts have been "often pubstrangely failed to notice it.

One word more. We see no reason why the Mexican Liturgy should be withheld from the Press of the Church, when the Bishop of Ohio publishes, in the last "Standard of the Cross," the Old Catholic soon to be adopted.

To the Right Reverend T. U. Dudley, D. D., Assistant Bishop of Kentucky:

My DEAR BISHOP-The Mexican Commission is responsible to the body that appointed it, and will report in full to it. Meanwhile the public journals have been supplied from sources sufficiently authentic, with all the facts in the case. and what I now state is only a repetition of what Liturgy of the Church in Mexico. It is a book compiled in the first years of the movement merely to enable the then feeble community to they felt to the errors of Romanism from which they were just escaping. Political reasons made it inexpedient that at that juncture either of the Anglican Liturgies (the English or the American) should be pressed upon their use.

Riley and Signor Valdespino, then Bishops elect, in the State Department beside the sword and the Mexican Commission (resulting from a correspondence chiefly inspired by the late Bishop of Maryland) the general form and many principal details of a Liturgy were arranged; portions of the Baptismal and Communion Offices. But it is not perfect, and cannot be until the return of Bishop Riley to Mexico, when, under the constitution of that Church, the Bishop, and the two Bishops-elect in Council will have full power to act. As therefore the tigation has not yet been made. ----Severe Liturgy is not at present perfect in details, the fires have occurred in the swamp regions press in this country would not show wisdom in of North Carolina; many lives were lost. discussing it. So soon as the Liturgy shall be reported to the Commission, and by them to the House of Bishops, it will of course be presented to our Church.

It is to be remembered that we are dealing not with an ordinary Mission over which we have all authority, but with a Sister Church. That Church is not only independent, but particularly sensitive. It needs brotherly help, but will not accept authoritative interference. Moreover, the nation of which it is part, has already suffered from the violence of its neighbor on the north, and is somewhat suspicious. Consequently, even were the Church of Jesus desirous to follow all the examples of the Church in this country (which it is not) it would be an act of serious impolicy to do so. Nevertheless, at to the Communion Office, that Church does at present use the Office of the Church of England, or our own.

Bishop Riley is detained in England, by the effort to supply a deficiency in funds necessary to carry on the work, which he is no longer able to supply out of his own means. It is in every way desireble that he shall return and devote himself to the consolidation of the Church in Mexico. But his return is delayed, and his labors are rendered more difficult, because of an opposition inaugurated in London, of the same character as that which has been repeated here. This Book of Prayers has been sent over to London, and misrepresented as the Liturgy of the Church in Mexico. But this work of building up a true Church of Jesus in our neighboring republic is of God, and through much tribulation that faithful Church will certainly attain what it is longing for, a pure Liturgy and an orderly Ministry.

I am faithfully and respectfully your brother. G. T. BEDELL.

Canvassers Wanted.

The LIVING CHURCH, having made arrangements to extend its business and circulation to a far greater extent than it has been heretofore prepared to do, wishes to secure the services of competent men and women in every diocese, to represent its interests and to solicit subscriptions. To experienced and successful canvassers who will undertake to devote their entire time to the interests of the Paper, very liberal terms will be offered. In Memoriam.

In the last LIVING CHURCH I saw with sorrow an announcement of the death of the late Edward P. Wood, sometime Warden of St. Stephen's him and to know him well. He was an excellent man. A tender husband, a most loving father, a sincere and manly Christian. Toward his rector he showed always a most thoughtful, respectconstant, devout, reverent, attentive. His most striking characteristic was that of manliness. He was a man to trust and trust implicitly. May his sons revere his memory and imitate his many noble qualities. As for him may he rest in peace!

of her life, Josephine, wife of W. D. Baker, Esq., of St. Andrews' Parish, Chicago.

In the death of Mrs. Baker, the Church in the West sustains a sad bereavement. An acknowledged leader among women, and combining to a rare degree the executive talent with the Christian spirit, she was foremost in every good work, the various parishes of her connection: of Trinity, Cleveland, for seven years, dating from her baptism and confirmation; of the Holy Communion, St. Louis, for twelve years, and of St. Andrew's, Chicago, for a little more than a year. But large as have been the results of her devotion in each of the above named cities, her last work though finished in so short a time, was perhaps her greatest. For to Mrs. Baker under God more than to any and all others concerned, is due the perfect harmonization of the conflicting views and feelings incident to the consolidation of two rival but weak parishes into the now prosperous parish of St. Andrews', Chicago. May her soul rest in eternal peace!

Summer's Comimg.

How the children watch the sun And the soft spring showers, Knowing well that sun and rain Bring the sweet May flowers. Darlings, you may clap your hands: Summer's surely coming; Pansies show their pretty heads, Wild bees now are humming!

Last year's nest has been renewed, Mended, thatched, and strengthened By the happy feathered pair, As the days have lengthened. Up among the branches high (Could you, dears, but mount them) You might see the cunning eggs, Like wee pearls, and count them.

Sweet south winds, like liquid balm, Round about us closes, Hinting of the scented woods And the bright June roses; Then the little colts at play, And the lambs in clover Frolicking in the merriest mood, Show the winter over.

Children, in the fair green fields Take your pleasant rambles, Like the young of bird and beast, Happy in your gambols. Summer's coming for us all, And the world rejoices, Sending forth the glorious song In her million voices. -- Mrs. M. A. Kidder

OUR NEW VICAR.

XXIV.

How like the story of a family is the account of your parochial sorrows and joys! Thank God, the Vicar is safe. Now, the rest of his way amongst you will be comparatively easy. That furnace through which your parish has been passing consumes the perishable stubble of prejudice and party feeling. All that remains is genuine ore, purged and purified by fire. On Monday evening, April 18, the year ly Report of the Sunday School Convention of Long Island was presented. Bishop Littlejohn presided at the meeting, and took occasion to make some very just remarks upon the difficulty of getting our clergy and parishes to give proper attention to the collection and report of statistics. In our diocesan and General Conventions, in the Church Almanacs, the tables are only an approximation to correctness, and the Church is not fairly rep resented. In the Church, as in the State, statistics form the bases of legislation, and the returns made by the clergy and parishes vocate has been largely increased, and its sonal or party uses. ALBANY.—Acorrespondent says: The Rev. E. B. Russell, for over nine years rector of St. John's parish, Delhi, has very recently accepted presented for Confirmation. A Celebration of the sin;" the remitting or taking away of sin is one a unanimous call to the rectorship of St. Paul's, Holy Eucharist followed. It was a cheering of the fruits of Baptism; that is why the Church Paterson, N. J., of late the parish of Bishop Starkey. The pastorate of Mr. Russell in Delhi has been one of remarkable successfulness in every department of the parish life and work. The condition of the parish has become such that it is no mere compliment to name it as among the very first of rural parishes-a veritable model of good order, thorough equipment and great attractiveness. The beautiful and richly furnished interior, the large congregation, the delightful which encourage us in the belief, that, if only a services, the churchly and general devotion to the mission chapel were permanently erected, the special appointments of the Christian Year, the Church would eventually have a strong hold on superior culture of the common social life, and the affections of the people here. one of the lovliest of villages, form a picture which cannot be forgotten when once it has been seen here amid the Delaware hills. The pasto- 20th, Bishop Whipple visited Wabasha, and conrate of Mr. Russell has been the longest in the firmed seven persons presented by the Rector history of the parish since the organization in 1819. Respected and beloved by all who knew Indians, presented by the Rev. George St. Clair, him, and known by all both within and outside our Missionary to the Sioux in Minnesota. On the limits of the parish congregation, it will be a the following day, at Lake City, the Rev. Charles in his seed (Christ) all nations of the earth loss very deeply and extensively felt, in which H. Plummer, Rector of St. Mark's, baptized four one who has known so well how to be a true pastor to his people, and a man of far reaching influences for good everywhere, is yielded to the call from a larger field of usefulness.

CALIFORNIA.—The San Joaquin Valley Missions, in charge of the Rev. D. O. Kelley, have just been visited by Bishop Kip. At Mercer, April 8th, after evening service, one person was confirmed, and two children were baptized. Sunday, April 11th, was spent in St. James' Mission, Fresno, where nine persons were confirmed. Tuesday evening following, one adult was baptized by the Missionary, and four persons confirmed by the Bishop, in St. John's Mission, Hanford. Wednesday evening service was held in Visalia, where one person was baptized and confirmed. The next morning the Holy Communion was celebrated, and in the afternoon the Bishop and Mr. Kelley were taken in a carriage to Tulare, where service was held in the evening. Sunday, the 18th, was spent in St. Paul's Mission, Bakersfield, where nine persons were confirmed-making in all 24 Confirmations in this missionary district. The congregations at all the services were large, the music unusually good, and the interest manifested remarkably encouraging. The district is far too large for one missionary, and must be divided as soon as a suitable man can be found for the work. Of the 24 confirmed, only seven were raised in the Church, and eight were just previously baptized as adults by the missionary. Churches will probably be built this year at Fresno and Bakersfield. This was the Bishop's first visit to all these places.

ILLINOIS.—After an incumbency of nearly ten years and a half, the Rev. E. A. Downing has resigned the rectorship of Grace Church, Galena; community, as one of our most efficient and ex- and offered to God. The type is fulfilled when resignation.

Bishop McLaren visited Christ Church Mission, Harvard, on Tuesday, April 20th, and confirmed a class of five persons; the first fruits of the gift of the Holy Ghost to be from Jesus; to the Sunday School work here. The sermon of be the consequence of His Ascension, in fulfiland strengthened by our good Bishop's visitatation, brief as it was.

McLaren confirmed a class of thirty-five persons. presented by the Rector, the Rev. Arthur Ritchie. The service was very impressive, and the music, as it always is at the Ascension, very good. The Hands, addressed some wise and affectionate advice to the newly confirmed. The congregation was so large, notwithstanding the unpromising condition of the weather, that all could not be accommodated with seats. The prospects of this parish are very encouraging; the members are now making an effort, which, judging from the past, is sure to be successful, to lift the mortgage from the church lot, so as to leave their hands free for the erection of a new church.

NEW YORK .- Several years ago Miss Caroline Tolman erected a church in memory of her father, John H. Tolman, at a cost of some $130,-000. It is a handsome Buena Vista stone building, and was completed and consecrated by Bishop Potter in 1873. Hitherto it has been under the charge of Rev. Dr. Tuttle, and the property has been vested in Trustees. The congregation has largely increased, and there are now more than 250 communicants, and it has been determined to incorporate it as a parish, to be known as the Church of the Beloved Disciple. On Easter Monday wardens and vestry-men were chosen and they have since elected Rev. A. H. Warner Rector. He has been sometime serving the parish under the direction of Dr. Tuttle. benefaction by presenting the parish with a handsome rectory, and possibly she may provide something of an endowment. Mr. Tolman, the father, was formerly a broker in Wall street.

at Christ Church Mission, Hazel Green, attended | therefore the Baptism administered by them in by the Rev. G. H. Drewe, Missionary in charge, and the Rev. S. D. Pulford, Rector of Trinity Holy Trinity according to the form prescribed Church, Platteville, Wis. Two candidates were by Christ. "Be Baptized for the remission of sight to witness twenty-two of the faithful approaching their risen Lord, in the Blessed Sacrament. The altar was vested in white with gold fringe, as were also the Lectern and Prayerdesk, the rest of the chapel displaying its Easter decoration, which had been allowed to remain until the Bishop's visit. The hearty service and the reverent demeanor of the congregation showed signs of a growth in Church principles, MINNESOTA.—On Tuesday evening, April the Rev. James Cornell, and also twelve Sioux persons, and presented a class of eleven persons to the Bishop for confirmation.

Iowa.—On Tuesday, April 20th, Bishop Perry visited Grace Church, Cresco (Rev. F. H. Potts, Rector), and confirmed a class of six, and all being children. The church was tastefully decorated, and a large congregation was in attendance, and the singing was excellent, and the sermon, on "Christ the End of Prophecy," was deeply interesting and instructive. After service, there was a reception at the rectory. The Bishop's visit has greatly encouraged us. May he soon come again!

To the Editor of the Living Church: Some one signing "N" and writing from Riverside, Cal., asserts as his "belief" that there is no organized mission in Kern county. This is a mistake, as St. Paul's Mission, Bakersfield, is a very vigorous mission, with twenty or thirty communicants, and contemplating the erection of a church this year.

WHITSUNDAY. LESSON, ACTS II. 32:39

This Lesson is part of St. Peter's sermon on the day of Pentecost, preached to the multihis resignation to take effect May 31st. The In-tude after the descent of the Holy Ghost upon dustrial Press, a local paper, in the course of the Church. Pentecost, or "the Fiftieth" is the quite an extended complimentary notice, says, Feast of the first fruits; Levit. xxiii 17-20. On "Mr. Downing has ever been regarded in this this Feast two loaves were made of the new corn emplary Christian teachers; and the regret is Christ the Bread of Life, the corn which had therefore the more deeply felt at his prospective fallen into the ground was now risen and atloss. So far as we know or believe, there is but tained His greatest exaltation; the type of the one feeling, that of regret, at Mr. Downing's first fruits is also fulfilled in the gathering of the first converts to the faith of Christ by means of the preaching of Apostles.

V. 32-33. The Apostle, St. Peter, here asserts the Bishop, and his subsequent address to the ment of His promise inferred in St. John xvi:7. class, were admirable. We were much comforted | The meritorious cause and also the purpose of the gift is set forth, Eph. iv:8,11,12. The argument condensed is as follows: Jesus of Nazareth On the evening of Wednesday, April 28th, in a man known among you on account of His holv the Church of the Ascension, Chicago, Bishop life and the miracles which He did, was crucified by you; He died and was raised from the dead by the power of God. Of His Resurrection we are personal witnesses, as also of His Ascension into Heaven. He being thus exalted above Bishop preached; and, after the Laying on of the condition of men, through the power or by the right hand of God (Acts v:31. Phil. ii:8-11) hath received in His human nature (Heb. i:3-4) the gift of the Holy Ghost, John xiv:26. xvi:15; and has also given that gift to man, as you now see. Therefore since this Man has been exalted far above all human possibilities, has received of ing unsolicited testimonial, which speaks for itthe nature and attributes of God, and has dis- self: pensed to men the Spirit of God; it is certain that this man Jesus, whom you crucified, is the Anointed One foretold by the Prophets; is indeed Jehovah, the God of Israel, the Saviour.

V. 34. St. Peter here appeals to the known Messianic tradition of the Jews, as did our Lord Himself. St. Matt. xxii:42-45; and St. Paul in Heb. i,13. The Psalm here quoted is the 10th. See also 1 Cor. xv. 25, Heb. vii:17. Eph. i 20.

V. 37. They who had pierced Christ with nails and slain Him, were now pierced with the stings of remorse and compunction. The question of the multitude convicted of sin is undoubtedly the operation of the Holy Ghost now present in the Church-according to the promise of our Lord, St. John xvi:8. True conviction of sin is evidenced by the desire to know the will of God in order to do it.

here speaking by the Spirit, or rather that the The church is built near the Home for Indigent Christian females, and was intended for their use, as well as for that of the Church people in the vicinity. Miss Tolman intends to add to her benefaction by presenting the parish with a handpower of God. The Jews expected that when the Messiah should come He would baptize, i. e. would require new obligations: this is at the root of the question in St, John i:15. In the Name of Jesus Christ. Since Christ commanded tion and Results, sent free. Address Drs. WISCONSIN.—On Thursday, 22d ult., the Rt. His disciples to Baptize in the Name of the Rev. the Bishop of Wisconsin held his visitation Father and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost, Philadelphia, Pa.

Christ's Name was Baptism into the Name of the in her Articles speaks of the Sacrament as effectual signs, i.e., having an effect. The effect or result of Baptism is the remission of sin; this is by the receiving of the Holy Ghost who sanctifies or makes holy that into which He is received. The Holy Ghost is the Life-Giveri, or He who enlivens; hence the Catechism, speaking of the Grace of Baptism, calls it "a death unto sin," i.e., by remission, and a New Birth unto Righteousness," by the reception of the Holy Ghost. St. Peter by the Spirit of God.says, "Be baptized and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost." Hence the death to sin and the New Birth to righteousness are the result of Baptism. Those who deny this are found to contradict the voice of God speaking by the mouth of the Apostle, and repeat the error mentioned in St. Luke vii.30. The blessing is unlimited—"to you and your children and all who are afar off." The promise is the promise made to Abraham, that should be blessed. It is fulfilled in the mission of the Christian Church,—"Go ye into all the world and make disciples of every creature, baptizing them." God calls men by baptism out of the world into the Church, through the gift of the Spirit, for the edifying or building up of the Body. Baptism is the effectual call of God; in it the operation of the Spirit is the Voice of God mighty in operation, making that to be which before was not, making the child of Adam the dwelling place of the Holy Spirit, the child of

The descent of the Holy Spirit upon the Church at Pentecost is not to be considered as something which has ceased. The presence of the Holy Spirit in the Church is an enduring fact. He descended at Pentecost. He is in the Church to-day, its Life, its Soul, the means by which the Church's acts are made effectual. He is Baptizer, He Confirms, He Absolves. We dwell in Christ through the Spirit which He hath given us, by Whom the inward Thing of the Sacrament is made a reality to us: and all the members of the Spirit-bearing Body are accepted in the Beloved, by virtue of that Spirit of Adoption whereby we cry Abba, Father.

Thus, Truth, which is the knowledge of God, flourisheth out of the earth by the operation of the Spirit through the Son, until it reaches unto the Father: and reversely, righteousness hath manifested itself from Heaven from the Father through the Son, by the Holy Spirit—Pentecost is the highest manifestation of the Atonement-God as Father, Brother, and Sanctifying Indweller, by whom we have assurance that we are drawn to high and heavenly things, and are more assimilated to the liknness of our Lord.

DRS. STARKEY & PALEN, -Gentlemen:-It is contrary to my rules to give certificates to the many remedies that are advertised, but my experience with Compound Oxygen has been such that I feel it my duty to recommend it to all my acquaintances suffering from overwork and a tendency to pulmonary trouble. In October, 1878, I was in very poor health. My system had been much overtaxed, and a cold contracted in the spring seemed to have taken permanent hold on my lungs. I had had several slight hemorrhages, was troubled with a cough and was much reduced in flesh. I was discouraged and my family alarmed at my condition. A friend in Boston sent my wife one of your little books, strongly recommending your remedy. I was besought to order the Home Treatment, and did so. I followed instructions faithfully, and in three months was a new man. My troubles had almost entirely disappeared. The improvement had been quiet, but certain and sure from the time I V. 38.
