The rumor was started, and published in all the papers, until most people looked upon it, improbable as it seemed, as authentic. The Baroness, most likely, has not thought it consistent with her dignity to deny the report. One fine morning, recently, several so-called "society-papers" having announced that the marriage would be solemnized on the day in question, at the Savoy Chapel, at sight-seers. The churchyard, also, and the street leading to it, were thronged with people, hoping to catch a glimpse of the "happy couple." At 11 o'clock, however, the chaplain of the Savoy, the Rev. Henry White, emerged from the vestry; and, having ascended the pulpit, informed the congregation that they had assembled there on a vain quest, for that no marriage would take place.

Correspondence of the Living Church.

It is not so very long ago, since, to the ordinary tourist, the cities of St. Paul and Minneapolis were almost on the limits of civilization, in a northerly direction; and, to have reached those points, was to have accomplished a considerable feat in traveling. After a few years, however, the Northern Pacific Railroad, nearly a hundred and fifty miles farther north, stretching westward from Lake Superior ato Dakota, presented a new rung in the iron ladder, by which we are gradually climbing towards the North Pole. A few short years more elapse, and we find still another Road-the St. Paul, Minneapolis and Manitoba-striking northward for a distance of three hundred and ninety miles, to St. Vincent, touching, at that point, the International Line. There it grasps, with friendly grip, a branch of the Canadian Pacific Road, over which our tourist is whirled, if he desire it, ninety miles still farther north. And now, that he is nearly five hundred miles nearer the Frozen Zone than he was at St. Paul, he probably begins to think that there can hardly be much beyond that point, and that he has pretty nearly reached the limits of any possible future civilization. But what are the facts? I will content myself with stating only one of them, in order that the readers of the LIVING CHURCH may obtain some faint idea of the magnificent empire that is being founded on the other side of the line which separates the United States from the British Possessions, more than leight hundred miles northwest from Chicago.

This one fact is, that, between the 110th and the 124th degree of west longitude, or thereabouts, there lies a territory extending nine hundred of plenty of hard wood and of pine. miles north from the National Boundary, which, being within the isothermal limits, is a wheatbearing region; and this is barely one-half of the area, in that part of the British North American Possessions, that is capable of producing that, as well as other cereals.

It may be doubted whether the popular estimate of the extent of the Dominion of Canada, does not fall short of the truth. It is well, therefore, to know that it comprises a territory of about 3,528,705 square miles, and occupies an area equal to that of the entire Continent of Europe, and larger than that of the United States. That part of this region, whose northern boundary is the Arctic Ocean, and whose southern limits-extending east and west from the Atlantic to the Pacific—are the northern boundaries of the United States, and of what used to be known as the Provinces of Upper and Lower owned and governed by the Hudson Bay Comthe Dominion of Canada. The Dominion itself. at present, consists of Seven Provinces, viz: Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Prince Edward's Island, Quebec, Ontario, Manitoba, and British Columbia. But, besides these, there remain the district of Keewatin and the vast North Western Territory, out of which, doubtless in due time, other Provinces will be formed: just as State after State is formed from the Territories in our own country.

Of one of these Provinces, in particular, we have heard a great deal in the West, within the past two or three years; as thousands of intending settlers from Europe and Canada have, within that period, passed through Chicago, on their way thither. I refer to Manitoba. Situtween the North Pole and the Equator, and be-Province of Manitoba, although it contains together, is not large. somewhere about 9,000,000 acres, is yet but a very small fraction, indeed, of the enormous territory of which it constitutes a portion. Parts ing hopefully, in the prospect of having a resiof Minnesota and Dakota form its southern dent pastor, before very long. They rejoice in boundaries, and it has direct connection, by the St. P., M. & M. Railway, with the United States. The Canadian Railway system will, also, within a very few years, give, within the limits of the to the Pacific seaboard.

Manitoba itself, since its erection ten years ago. may be gathered from a comparative view of the growth of its chief city, Winnipeg. The present Bishop and Metropolitan of Rupert's Land, came to this locality about fifteen years since. At that time, Winnipeg had no existence; two or three houses, scattered up and down on the banks of the Red River, were the sole germ of the future city, and there was a population of but thirty or forty souls. There was a blacksmith's shop; but no tailor, no bootmaker, no baker, no carpenter's shop. Eight years afterwards, Winnipeg was an incorporated city, with its Mayor and Aldermen! Ten years ago, it had a population of 253. Three years later, the census showed a return of some 2,200; and, this Winnipeg-"The Gate-City of the Northwest"bids fair to tread in the steps of our own "Garden City," in the rapidity of her growth. Building is going on very extensively, and the value of property is rising rapidly.

Let it be understood, that, in making the above statement, my only object has been to give a general and fair outline of the position and the prospects of this region and its capital. The subject of its varied resources and its beautiful climate, with all their corresponding details, lies beyond my present scope. But there is a theme peculiarly appropriate to the pages of the LIVING CHURCH, and to which most, if not all that has gone before, may be considered as introductory; I mean, the history and condition of our sister Church. This, however, I must reserve for a second letter.

FERGUS FALLS, MINN., Aug. 1880. At this point, nine years since, only a few shanties marked the site of the present town; and from that time until less than a year ago, there were no railroad stations within twentyfive miles. Last December, the St. Paul, Minneapolis and Manitoba Road reached this point, and was soon extended to Glyndon, on the North Pacific Railway. In June of the present year, the census was taken, and showed a population, at Fergus Falls, of 1,653 souls. Since then, there has been an addition, by immigration, of at least 150 persons, making the population, at the present moment, 1,800. The surrounding country is a fine farming district, abounding in lakes and streams, and possessing the advantage

But the great feature at Fergus Falls is the remarkable facilities that it has for manufacturing purposes, afforded by the Red River of the North, which flows through the town. There is said to be as much water-power within seven miles along the river, as Minneapolis enjoys. It is easily controlled, and dams can be built very readily. There is a fall of 120 feet in three miles, affording an opportunity, within less than that distance, for the erection of from five to seven mill-dams. Three of these have been already constructed, and a grist mill and a saw mill are in operation, besides a third building, where the water-power can be applied to any purpose for which it may be required. The most valuable of these privileges, belonging to Mr. Austin, lies a short distance up the river. A substantial dam has been built there, and the eligibility of the site must inevitably lead, before Canada, covers an area of 2,750,000 square miles, long, to the erection of mills for various branches and was formerly called "Rupert's Land." Until of manufacture. Upon the whole, this place within the last ten years, this whole region was bids fair, from its natural advantages, to be, eventually, one of the most important places in pany; but, in 1870, it was handed over to the the State. It is safe to predict for it, a bright Canadian Government, and now forms a part of and prosperous future, as regards its temporal outlook.

But it is time to enquire, "What about the town?" Do they keep pace with its civil growth? Upon occasion of a recent visit there, the writer learnt, in answer to his enquiries, that there was no lack of meeting-houses of almost every description. It was not easy to say what denomnations were not represented. There were three church-buildings belonging to as many Englishspeaking congregations, Presbyterians, Congregationalists, and Methodists; and there were, also, three Scandinavian Societies, each one having its place of worship. On the previous Sunday, a Baptist minister had visited the place, in order to survey the ground, with a view of ated very nearly in the geographical centre of introducing the varieties of his "little Zion." the Continent (being almost equi-distant be- To what extent all these different bodies must flourish, may be guessed, from the fact that the tween the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans), the actual English-speaking membership, taken al-

There are some thirteen or fourteen Church families at Fergus Falls, and about fifteen communicants. Services have been held here on several occasions, by different clergymen; among others, by the Rev. I. T. Osborne, of Alexandria, involving a journey of seventy miles. Bishop Whipple, also, has visited the place on two occasions.

ILLINOIS.—The Rev. B. F. Fleetwood, rector of St. Mark's, Chicago, having returned, on the 31st inst., from a two months' visit to Europe, was greeted, on last Thursday evening, with a surprise party, at his own residence. The parishioners gathered in large numbers, and all spent a very delightful evening.

The Rev. R. A. Holland, rector of Trinity Church, Chicago, has returned home, after his summer's vacation, and resumed his usual duties

The Rector of St. Gaul's, Kankakee, is again at his post, and Church services resumed, after a vacation of five weeks spent by him-with old friends and parishioners in Vermont.

The Chapel, and the Transept-addition to the church are nearing completion, and will probably be ready for occupancy sometime in October. By this enlargement, accommodations are furnished for a Sunday School of two hundred members, and fifty additional sittings are secured for the Church. By an arrangement of rising panels Church and Chapel can be thrown together; and a congregation of five hundred accommodated on extraordinary occasions. The church is also undergoing such repairs as will put it in admirable condition for the work of the Parish.

WISCONSIN.-The work which the faithfulmissionaries of the Diocese are doing, is a convincing reason why our alms and our prayers should cheer them in their self-denying service for the Master. A knowledge of missionary labor, and of the sure growth of the Church, as the result of missionary ventures, should bring forth from every Christian heart a warm sympathy for the servant of the Lord in his daily trial of love and faith. And this sympathy should be of that practical kind which helps the missionary by ministering to the support of himself and his family. Let those who have not, as yet, pledged anything for the missionary work this year, consider the duty and the privilege of aiding in this blessed work. It is a pleasure to plead for the missionary. - Calendar.

New Jersey.-Last week, the ladies of St. Mary's Church had a Fair and Festival in the Armory building, at Keyport, beginning Tuesday afternoon and continuing in the evening. Everything passed off pleasantly, and the result was quite gratifying; receipts over $200. In every respect, both socially and pecuniarily, the Fair was one of the most successful that had taken place in Keyport, and reflected great credit on all concerned. We have a hard-working Rector, a man of ability, and a sound Catholic, Rev. C. J. Peace. The services are interesting, the sermons are instructive, the Church is growing and at peace. All now seem to be united in the good work.

CONNECTICUT.-We learn from the parish paper, St. James, New London, that a "Parish House" is to be built, for the accommodation of the Sunday School and various working organizations of the parish. Two members have offered to give four thousand dollars; at least ten thousand will be needed. This is the old parish of which Dr. Hallam was rector for so many years; and it has always been noted for its zeal and good work. What I wish to emphasize is that loyal Anglican Catholics (American Catholics, I should rather say), must graft on Catholic practices where we lack them, and make them, by their use, customary, and then the timid, the legalists, the exact Rubricists, will all crave those privileges and get them, by vote of the privileges and get them, by vote of the majority in General Convention. #### Foreign Notes.

The following, from a correspondent of the Church Times, may be of interest to our clergy who work in rural districts:

I have this year revived Rogation services here I blessed the fields and houses of all farmers in the parish, who would allow me to do so. I held eighteen short services in the fields, and twentyeight in houses. Only two farmers declined to join, and I don't think the passive opposition of two such men as they are need trouble me much. On the other hand, one of those in whose field I held a service, was a Roman Catholic, and another, a strong Dissenter. The services were much better appreciated than I had any idea they would be. The people were dressed in their Sunday-best to receive me; the houses smartened blessed is the soul which has learned it. up, and the laborers assembled. S. FRANCIS DE SALES.

The people were a little astonished to see me walking about the village in cassock and surplice, but there was not a single instance of rude or irreverent behavior. In one instance, the people turned out of a public house to join the congregation, and behaved very well. I read the first fourteen verses of Deut. xxviii, in the fields, then the Bishop's prayers, then a collect, then a psalm, then the Lord's Prayer; then I went into the houses saying, "Peace be to this house," &c., as we crossed the threshold. In the house I read a psalm, two pages of Walsham How, and gave the blessing from the marriage

The authorities in the Elizavetgred district give last issue, to the fact that nothing can be from a half penny to two pence a quart for corn beetles, in order to encourage the peasants to collect them. The German Menonite colonies have been very successful in dealing with the which have been already generally adopted in the Church. The past shows this. #### The Decrease of the Ministry.

It is coming to be a source of great anx iety in the American Church, that so few young men are in course of preparation for the Christian Ministry. The promise is by no means adequate to the needs of the Church. The ranks of the Clergy are diminished by death, at the rate of 50 or 60 a year; while, at the same time, the bounds of the Church are enlarged over a widening territory. The ratio of increase, as proved by statistics, is larger in the Church than in any other Christian Body in the land. But there has not been, for the last few years, a corresponding increase of candidates for the Ministry.

In 1830, we had 534 clergymen. In 1840, the number had nearly doubled; the gain was 100 per cent. in ten years. In the next decade-from 1840 to 1850-the gain was 60 per cent. From 1850 to 1860, the Church was rapidly extending; new Dioceses were formed, and missions were widely scattered on our Western frontier; yet, in the ten years, the gain to the clergy list was but 40 per cent. From 1860 to 1870, the gain was about the same. Since 1870, the ratio is still falling off; so that in this decade we have not gained over 30

Notwithstanding our large resources in every way, our greater number of bishops and pastors and schools, we add less than one hundred a year to the number of our clergy. We are contributing for Missions, and could contribute much more; but, while we do not want for money, we lack men. We are contributing with some show of liberality to colleges and theological seminaries; but we have almost to beg for students. It is estimated that in thirty-five years we have expended thirty-five hundred thousand dollars on such Institutions; and as much more could have been obtained, doubtless, had there been greater promise of results from its expenditure.

It is a noble work that these schools of the prophets are doing; but they cannot create the spirit of consecration, by which the ranks of our Ministry are to be replen ished. This must be wrought in the hearts of the people by the Holy Spirit. They must learn more to honor the sacred Office, and to covet its gifts for their children. Their ambition for their children must be sanctified, and elevated above worldly ends, and they must be taught, as of old, to devote their first fruits to the Lord. They must be taught to bring up their children to do for the Lord, and not to desire for them selves; to labor for eternity and not for time. Business is the great end of ambition, in our day; and young men are moulded by this spirit of the age. Their energies are directed to the channels of earthly enterprise; and "getting on in the world" seems to be the only thing worth working for. "Success" is the Shibboleth of the nineteenth century.

Doubtless, the discouragements incident to the ministry have deterred many. From a worldly point of view, it is not an inviting profession; its support is precarious; it subjects one to frequent removals; poverty, criticism and censure are common experiences. To a sensitive and cultivated mind, Episcopal habit, nobody, more freely than these are hard to bear; they are, to many, I do, acknowledges that its present form is a grievous yoke.

But there is another and a brighter side. The clergy often find appreciation, which is a great joy to the spirit, and they sometimes meet with a co-operation that is most comforting and blessed. The work itself, its present good and its wide promise of future reward, is beyond compare. It is a blessed work; it is a noble calling. of our younger clergy. In the pulpit he To what so noble can a father devote his is bold, fearless and instructive, rising at son? Where can he find for him such glorious promises of character and usefulness, he has approved himself a worthy successor as in the Christian Ministry? How can he to the greatly beloved Dr. Hoffman." put his fortune to better use, than in eduto give money for the increase of our ministry, but to give more than money, and to educate their boys for this sacred calling. We must hold it up to them, by precept and example, as the noblest state of life to which God has called any of the sinful sons of men.

Information Wanted.

It is on the part of the Independent. In a late editorial we said: "Schism is a sin; as much a sin in our day as it was in St. Paul's day. Being a sin, schism is not justifiable in any case or in any circumstances whatever, never has been and never will be." The Independent says: "Will it (that is THE LIVING CHURCH) please tell us what is the duty of the Episcopal Church, just how its members, and then, also, how members of other Christian churches can purge themselves of this heinous sin?" 'Tell us what is the duty of the Episcopal Church?" Certainly. It is plain I find that All Saint's Chapel, N. Denver, enough. Its duty is, to go on doing in the has been destroyed by fire. It was a small future what it has done in the past; to teach, in this matter, what Scripture only place of worship and religious instructeaches, and steadfastly, in her prayers, to tion. It was a centre of Sister Eliza's say "from all false doctrine, heresy and work. Here she had her Mother's Meet schism, Good Lord, deliver us!" But the ing, Sewing School, and Sunday School, Independent asks further, how "its members, and then those of other Christian ous sin?" It is plain that the members of central and the lot very valuable. the Episcopal Church cannot purge themselves of a sin of which they are not guilty. Help us all who can, and turies, Catholic Christians have said "I ask God's blessing for us in this emerbelieve in the Holy Catholic Church," gency. and "I believe in one Catholic and Apostolic Church." If "members of other churches" believe this, they believe the Catholic Faith, as to the Catholic Church. Therefore, they are to satisfy themselves that the body to which they adhere is Catholic and Apostolic. If they find that it is not, then they should try to find one that is. Having found it, their duty is, by the Grace of God, to love and serve Him in it. We have, we hope, answered these questions to the satisfaction of the Inde pendent. It now has knowledge in the matter. May it profit by it! We commend to the Independent these words:

"Happy are they, and only they, Who from Thy judgments never stray; Who know what's right; nor only so, But always practise what they know."

It is now time for schools to reopen, and the sound of the assembly bell is again heard in our land. The great army of children begins to rally for another assault apon the citadel of knowledge. Let those who lead this band of youthful warriors remember that there are other foes to be conquered besides ignorance. Whatever may be the political theory about the public schools, the fact that they are, for the most part, taught by godly men and women, is the great safeguard of our public morality. Could they, in practice, be separated from all religious influence, as in theory they have been in many parts of our country, it would be the first step in the downfall of the Republic. So long as the teachers are Christians, the principles of the Bible will be taught and exemplified, even if the Holy Scriptures are formally

Bishop Coxe, in his letters to the Kalendar, favors the establishment of a ritual commission, "which, by appeal to a certified book of drawings, should be the arbiters of law and order in respect of official attire; such book being, first of all, acted upon and accepted by due legislation of the whole church." He says: "As to the illogical and a subject for reformation."

Likewise, what is "general usage?" What is the "appropriate dress" of the minister? (that is the word in the Prayer Book, I believe). Where do we get authority for singing a hymn, either before the Communion Service or before the Sermon?

Where do we get authority for a sermon at Evening Prayer, with the hymns and collects said afterward? Now, let no one tell me that the people expect these things; let no one tell me they have been used for some time.

> The much needed work of repair, has at length been begun on Mt. Calvary Church; it is to be entirely repainted, and generally "fixed up." The work is being pressed on, and will soon be completed. The cash is ready as the work is done; it is against the principles of "Ritualistic" Churches to run into debt.

The Church in Sherwood Parish, Cockeys ville, Balto county, has begun the erection of a white marble front, to cost about $5,000, independent of the marble; which is a gift from the quarries of Hugh Sisson, of Baltimore. The corner stone was laid with an elaborate ceremonial, August 27th, in the presence of over 700 people. Among those present, of the clergy, were the Rev. Dr. Rich (Dean of Balto Convocation), who laid the corner-stone-which contained the daily papers, Journal of last Convention, names of workmen, etc., etc.—the Rev. Mr. Purcell, of Mt. #### Obitnary.

The Rev. SAMUEL D. DENISON, D. D., Honorary Secretary of the Committee for Foreign Missions of the Protestant Episcopal Church, died in the early morning of the 3d instant, at the house of his son-in-law, Mr. Minot Fisher, of White Plains. Dr. Denison was stricken with apoplexy on the evening of Tuesday last, without marked premonitory symptoms; though he has been feeble for some years. He was born in Boston, in October, 1810, and his youth was spent at the old family homestead at Stonington,

At the age of 32 he entered the Mission Rooms as assistant to the then Secretary. This connection continued about three years, from 1842 to 1845. Upon the 28th of May, of the latter year, he was admitted to Holy Orders, by Bishop Alfred Lee, of Delaware, acting for the Standing Committee of the Diocese of New York. For the next eight years, he was engaged in strictly ministerial work in Texas, and at Great Barrington, Mass. He was elected Secretary and General Agent of the Foreign Committee in 1853, and continued in office until 1864, when failing strength caused him to resign. He was, however, recalled by the Board of Missions to the active duties of this office in October, 1868, and served until December, 1870,-again, in an emergency, from March to May, 1873—and once more under similar circumstances, from Dec, 1875, to November, 1876.

Dr. Denison also served the Committee as Local (or business) Secretary from 1864 to October, 1868, and was elected Honorary Secretary in December, 1870. From November, 1876, until March of the present year, he filled the position of Assistant Treasurer. He received the degree of Doctor of Divinity from Hobart College in 1876. Twenty years in all he served in Missionary work for the Church. His mind was a perfect encyclopædia of Missionary knowledge. He was a man of great completeness of character; affable, amiable and gentle, and beloved by all who

ST. AGNES SCHOOL.

This deservedly popular school, located, as heretofore, at 717 Monroe street, resumed session yesterday (Sept. 8th). The Principal, Mrs. Mc-Reynolds, is making herself better and more favorably known to the citizens of the West Side, year by year, and, as some of our readers may be aware, has won favorable notice from the Right Rev. the Bishop of the Diocese. We would urge those living in that quarter of the city, and having children to educate, to send for a circular of the

LORAINE SEMINARY.

The school year of this Institution opened Sept. 6th. Loraine Seminary is an English and Classical Day School for pupils of all ages and sexes, located at 1201 Michigan Avenue, and is under the management of M. L. Barnes. The best facilities for study are offered here on the lowest terms, no pains being spared to impart to the pupils a sound and thorough knowledge of the branches which they may undertake. Special advantages are afforded in the departments of Elecution, Music, and Drawing: also, thorough instruction in Latin, French, and German.

MUSICAL COLLEGE.

The Chicago Musical College, at Central Music Hall, corner State and Randolph streets, with Dr. F. Ziegfeld, President, and S. A. Phelps, Vocal Director, opened the fall term last Mon-day. It is a pleasure to state that the School is crowded with pupils, and it will be necessary to find more room. The manager expects to give some fine concerts this winter, and we know of no better institution to send pupils for musical instruction.

LAW COLLEGE.

The Union College of Law will be opened for students, on Monday, the 22d inst., when this institution will enter upon its twenty-second collegiate year. A larger attendance than usual is expected. Of all the Law Schools in the country, there are none that do more thorough work, or that furnishes a better training for the bar than this. The opening exercises will take place at 10 o'clock A. M., and the public are invited to attend.

HIGHER SCHOOL FOR BOYS.

The late lamented Cecil Barnes, who was the original founder of this Institution, has worthy successors in the present proprietors, Mr. C. N Fessenden, A. B., of Harvard, and Mr. T. W.
Grover, A. B., of Yale College. They still retain the old location, 312 Chicago avenue, corner of State street, and the school commences its

St. Agnes' School fifth year to-day (Sept. 9th). There is no pleasanter situation for the purpose, on the north side, and, lying as it does, within a block of the Clark and State street lines of horse cars, one on each side, it is perfectly accessible to all parts of the city. Of its superior educational advantages, it is unnecessary for us to say anything.

CHICAGO LADIES' SEMINARY.

This very thorough boarding and day school, under the supervision of Miss C. A. Gregg, is located at 15 and 17 Sheldon Street, in one of the most beautiful parts of the city, near Union Park. It will re-open on the 15th of September. Miss Gregg is assisted by nearly twenty able and efficient teachers and professors. The aim of this institution is to equal the best schools of the East. It is patronized and endorsed by some of the best citizens of the West Side.

YALE SCHOOL.

Yale School, for the higher education of boys and young men, of 179 Ashland Ave., was established, one year ago, by Mrs. A. E. Bates, who has been eminently successful in the management of Park Institute. The prospects of Yale School being so encouraging, and her own work at Park Institute so increased, she has transferred the proprietorship and management of the school to Mr. Geo. Croswell Cressey, M. A., who has spent years in the work of preparing young men for Yale and other colleges. This school will reopen September 13th.

MISS KIRKLAND'S SCHOOL.

The Huron Street School, under the direction of Miss Kirkland, will re-open Sept. 16th. There are nine graded classes, beginning with the kindergarten and closing with the advanced cla history and literature. The best testimony to its high standard of scholarship, its excellent moral and religious tone, and the thoroughness of its methods, will be found in the attainments and deportment of its pupils. Visitors are welcomed at any time.

MRS. BIGELOW'S SCHOOL.

The West Side Boys and Girls School, at 129 Hoyne Ave., opened Sept. 6th. It is under the management of Mrs. L. J. Bigelow. The course of study and text-books are the same as in public schools. Mrs. Bigelow is a lady of large and successful experience and of excellent character. Among her list of references we note the names of J. L. Packard, Chicago, Prof. John W. Cook, State Normal University, Ill., Prof. E. A. Gastman, Supt. Public Schools, Decatur, Ill., and many others.

PARK INSTITUTE.

This institution is widely known and deservedly popular. In the number, ability and success of its instructors, in the thoroughness and efficiency of its work, and in the liberality of advantages afforded, it stands equalled by few schools in the country. Among the more important new appointments for the coming year, should be mentioned that of the celebrated educator and teacher, Prof. Frederic Boscovitz to the Piano Department, Prof. F. D. Bigelow and Mrs. E. B. Shaw to the Art Department, and Mr. Geo. C. Cressey, A. M., to the charge of Greek and Latin. The school re-opens Sept. 15th.

From our Correspondent in Bishop Perry's Party. [By delay of this letter in the mail, the decription of the Ober-Ammergau Play was received first, and appeared last week.]

After our pleasant stay at Lucerne, we journeyed to the Lake of Brienz, through the Brunig Pass, the loveliest, though not the grandest, of all the Alpine roads. After a long drive up the beautiful valley, the well-built road began to ascend by zigzags through a forest to the summit of the pass, from which a magnificent prospect extended over the valley of Nidwalden, with Mount Pilate in the distance, and the lake of Lungern below. Reaching Brienz, we went by steamer hotel, far up on the mountain, and to which the guests are conveyed by a tramway of wonderful construction, the carriages being drawn by water power. This is one tionalities. The falls of the Giessbach have a peculiar beauty. The immense volume of water coming from the distant mountain top, now falls perpendicularly from the wooded heights, now rushes in mad haste over the rocks and boulders, down the mountain side, into the calm blue lake below. In the evening, the falls, from the top to the bottom, were illuminated by different colored port fires, presenting such a singularly beautiful appearance that we could almost fancy we were dwelling,

On Sunday, we were at Interlaken, situated in the beautiful plain between the lakes of Thun and Brienz, surrounded on all sides by lofty mountains, behind which rise the snowy peaks of the Silberhorn, Monch, Eiger, and Jungfrau. Interlaken to-day is not what it was a few years ago. The rude but pretty chalets, with their given place to magnificent hotels and beautiful villas. The poor have been removed to Unterseen; and the rich, from all nations, have come in to take their place, spending the summer days in the shade of the broad spreading elms, in the quiet retreat of their lovely villas, or in frequent trips to the neighboring mountains, and Leaving Thoune, we began to take a hasty farewell of Switzerland, not with the thought that if we must part with the world's paradise, it were better to part quickly; but, knowing that the little village of Oher-Ammergau must be reached by Sunday. We spent a few hours at Berne. We passed a night at the quaint old town of Freyburg, and, for half an hour, listened, enraptured, to its great organ—the second largest, and one of the finest in the world. The next day we went to the Falls of the Rhine, where we spent our last night in dear old Switzerland, which we have learned to love with all the enthusiasm of our American nature. It was fitting, that the last night in this land of grandeur and of beauty should be passed at one of its loveliest spots; and that our last impression should be so bright and beautiful. We arrived at Munich in a large crowd, and in the midst of great excitement. Munich is the great stopping-place for all persons going to Ober-Ammergau; and, on Friday night, hundreds of persons were pouring in from all directions. All of the prominent hotels were full, and many of the visitors had to seek lodgings elsewhere. Early the next morning, two of our party went by rail to Murnau, to secure a carriage to convey us to Ober-Ammergau, the rest of the party arriving on a later train. We had expected to experience great difficulty in procuring a conveyance, on account of the immense influx of tourists; but, even in this small town, under such exciting circumstances, we found fully exemplified that sound law of Political Economy, that, "other things being equal, the supply is always equal to the demand." After partaking of a good lunch at the rude village hotel, which was thronged with peasants and foreigners, all en route for Ober-Ammergau, we started at a lively pace down the beautiful valley that leads up to the Bavarian Highlands. It was a lovely drive down this valley, where the road passed between shady rows of trees, along the bank of the smoothly gliding river, while all around us rose up, majestically, the peaks of lofty mountains. It long inscriptions from the Psalms, have was beautiful, even amid the drizzling rain that came down upon us; for, so impressive was the grandeur of the scenery, so deep were the feelings occasioned by the thought of the great Play on the morrow, that we forgot all about the rain and the clouds, and thought only of the great wonder in store for us. At the top of the ascent, we visited the old Benedictine the summer evenings in driving along the Monastery of Ettal, which nestles beneath broad avenues, or listening to the almost the Ettaler-Mandl, whose peak is seen at Murnau. V. 21. The Philistines were a nation occupying the southwestern portion of the Land of Canaan. They were not Canaanites; the name signifies an emigrant. By some, they have been identified with the Hyksos, or shepherd-rulers of Egypt.

All that we know positively of the early history of the Philistines, is—that they settled in Canaan sometime previous to the time of Abraham. Gen. xxi: 32, xxvi;

At the time of the Exodus, they had grown to be a powerful people whose name overawed the Israelites. Ex. xiii: 17, xv.

An Enemy Hath Done This!

Correspondence of the Living Church. BISMARCK, D. T., Aug. 24, 1880.

In my letter of August 6, I mentioned the trouble between Father Stephan, Indian Agent, and the military authority at Standing Rock Agency, wherein the Agent obtained an order for the removal of the latter. This order has been reversed. The military remain and the Agent is to be removed, just as predicted in my letter. Gen. Sherman says: "I advise that Mr. Stephan should be transferred to Devil's Lake Agency, Dakota, and Mr. McLaughlin, of that Agency, be transferred to Standing Rock." One painful feature of the whole Indian question is the apparent impossibility of obtaining honest men to conduct the business of these Agencies. The War Department very naturally supposed that, by turning the work over to the Churches, that one difficulty would at least be obviated. Painful as it is to say so, such is not, at least in every instance, the case. It was discovered, a few weeks since, that the weights with which Father Stephan dealt out supplies of beef to the Indians, had been drilled, and filled with cork, thus making quite a difference between his buying and his furnishing scales, and that in his favor. The fraud was investigated, but no one could be convicted. The Agent said an enemy had done it in order to injure him. He, of course, knew nothing about it till it was discovered by others. Let us hope, in the interest of charity, that such was the case. And now. the present Agent at Fort Berthold, and his predecessor, not, however, ministers, are accusing each other of being thieves. Poor human nature! How long, at this rate, will it take us to inspire in the breasts of the red man a love for Albert Coppley, of McDaniels' P. O., Ohio, Makesa Statement. our Christian civilization? Some think that our dear Bishop Whipple is an extremist on the Indian question. The fact is, he has a heart to feel for the poor Indian, for he knows how he is swindled and corrupted by the white man. How to prevent this, has, as yet, baffled the ingenuity of the Government.

The Rector of the Church at Bismarck was called upon, last week, to officiate at the burial of a child in Mandan, five miles west of here. The child had been sick for several days, and a Mr. Williard, claiming to be a Missionary of the Congregational body, was requested to baptize it. He positively refused, unless the parents would first promise to join his church. This they declined to do, and the child died unbaptized. The writer of this is curious to know whether or not Mr. Williard is acting under the authority of the Church he claims to represent; and if so, does that body endorse his action in this case? He is certainly not advancing their interests by this course.

Recollections of the Early Chicago and Illinois Bar. By Hon. Isaac N. Arnold.

This pamphlet is a Lecture delivered before the Chicago Bar Association, June 10, 1880. Mr. Arnold is one of the old-time lawyers of Chicago; has represented his District in Congress, and is known as the author of the Life of Abraham Lincoln, of whom he was a personal friend. His last work, the life of Benedict Arnold, was unique, and attracted much attention. The reminiscences given in the lecture are racy and interesting. We have marked some for our col-

Cheshire Episcopal Academy, Connecticut. There lies before us the Circular and Catalogue, for 1880-1, of the Episcopal Academy of Connecticut, located at Cheshire, New Haven Co. Considering how new almost everything is in this country, the Cheshire Academy may fairly be termed a venerable institution, inasmuch as, in the course of the present summer, it celebrated its eighty-sixth anniversary. The fact that it has lived and flourished through all those years, is alone calculated to inspire confidence, for our's is not the country, nor is this an age, in which either individuals or institutions can command the confidence of the public for any length of time, and at the same time be proving themselves unworthy of the position which they occupy. But we find corroborative testimony to the excellence and success of the system of education pursued at this noted school, in the further fact that, during the past year, the roll of pupils has numbered eighty-five. It is a noteworthy and rather remarkable circumstance, and one that testifies unmistakably to the salubrity of the situation, and to the care exercised over the health of the inmates, that not only has the hospital remained unused during the whole of the past year, but not a single death has occurred among the pupils of the Academy, for twenty years.

The anniversary exercises, last June, were attended by several distinguished visitors; among whom may be named the Rt. Rev. Bishop Will Tatlock, Hitchcock, and Gardiner, besides many others of the clergy, and several laymen of dis

The Inter-State Exposition of Chicago. The Eighth Annual Exhibition of this Institution is announced to commence September 8th and close October 23d, 1880. The people of the Northwest are fully acquainted with the general character and purpose of this important organiza-tion, and it can hardly be necessary to assure our readers that these annual exhibitions present to them the only opportunity, from year to year, of keeping abreast of the world in the progress of industry and of art. The simple truth is, that the half million people who regularly attend the Exposition, expect to find there whatever there is new up to date, and the inventors and manufacturers who have produced anything new and important, expect to show it then and there to the people. For the present year we are assured that returning prosperity to the country has brought forth its fruits in this as in everything else. The pressure for space has been far bewhich the exhibition is to be held, and the quality of the display in all departments will be very choice. The management has expended about fifty thousand dollars during the past year in the beautifying and improvement of the building, and has spared neither labor nor expense in preparing for the public a brilliant, attractive and instructive display. All railways give their low-est excursion rates to visitors.

DEAR SIR:—Inclosed is a Postal order for $22.10 for Pads according to your special rate schedule to me. I have had on the Pad, you kindly sent me, two weeks, and, so far, I have improved wonderfully. Liver, Stomach, and bowels are straightened up for the present. My spirits have so improved that my enthusiasm is almost boundless. Have sold the Pads and two Plasters, which are beginning to tell their blessed story. I think I shall soon be able to send for a number of dozens at once. I have not hurried so much, as I wished to test the Pads on myself and others, but I feel now that I am getting under way pretty well, and here is the place to sell many, when once they are well proved. They stand proving splendidly.
